One of OK Ethics' guiding principles is service. The vast majority of the OK Ethics members encourage their employees to become involved in their communities by serving on boards. Serving on boards can present potential ethical issues and dilemmas. A panel of board service experts will discuss the current trends and ethical issues surrounding ethical dilemmas in board service and how this impacts today's boards. Trending issues of governance, power, influence and conflict of interests will be discussed. For those who serve (or plan to serve) on profit or non-profit boards, this panel discussion will provide important information.

Key Takeaways:

1. Gain knowledge about the duties of board governance.
2. Explore common ethical dilemmas of board service and real-life examples of how to handle them.
3. Explore how to use power and influence appropriately and avoid conflict of interest.
